

If you are in need of an introduction, here is one for you:

Here at _____, we all have baggage from our life experiences that can result in difficult and broken relationships. So it is with special excitement that I'm pleased to welcome Brian K. Hall to our gathering. Brian has over 20 years of experience working with people to discover and cultivate seeds of truth within our hearts.

Have you ever wondered why the same situations in relationship repeat over and over with different people in life? Brian is going to demystify common relationship road blocks for us today. He is going to give us practical ideas we can immediately use, we will be able to use them as we are headed home tonight and the next time we're at the office.

Join me in welcoming Brian K. Hall

(Please stay and shake my hand as I come up on stage.)